SUBJECT: Weekly Activities Report No. 23
3 - 9 June 1960

I. SIGNIFICANT ITEMS

None to report.

II. OTHER ACTIVITIES

1. My discussion [redacted] served a very useful purpose. [redacted] over the years has been deluged with materials which [redacted] has taken up for tutorial use and has left for the files. Much of it is out-of-date, some of it was of marginal value to begin with, some of it is of value only to the expert who could fit it into the proper context. We will dispose of all this and substitute current documents and films which will be more readable and which can be understood without the services of an interpreter. There is an abundance of such material.

I also agreed that if the necessity should develop for using SIC services in a program in which SIC was not originally scheduled we would be glad to be of service as long as we had someone available. [redacted] pointed out that from time to time situations develop in which a fairly sophisticated discussion of Communism for a day or two - even though not initially requested - would be of value. I feel that this is what SIC is for and that [redacted] shouldn't hesitate to call us. He apparently had some feelings that he was "exploiting" SIC. I hope that I have disabused him of this notion.
